

PRESS RELEASE

Aptella acquires Altech Distributors to offer comprehensive cable and pipe location solutions

Under the agreement, Aptella becomes the exclusive Australian distributor of C.Scope cable locator tools

Melbourne, 28 October 2024 – Technology solutions provider Aptella announces the acquisition of Altech Distributors, a Melbourne-based family-owned business that specialises in cable locators and altimeters used in the construction industry to enhance safety and accuracy.

The acquisition gives customers throughout Australia and New Zealand access to the full range of C.Scope pipe and cable locator tools.

“With service centres throughout Australia and New Zealand, plus decades of experience with all manner of levelling, measuring and positioning instruments, we look forward to supporting and expanding our combined customer base,” said Martin Nix, CEO of Aptella.

“On behalf of the Aptella team, our congratulations to Alan and Lesley Winford for their hard work over many years to establish and grow Altech Distributors, and our best wishes for their well-deserved retirement,” he added.

C.Scope pipe and cable locators are used to accurately pinpoint the location and depth of underground utilities and services, to increase safety and mitigate financial risks during excavation and building projects.

“The C.Scope solutions complement Aptella’s comprehensive range of levelling and construction tools, including Topcon and iMEX lasers and accessories,” said Josh Allan, Services Executive Manager at Aptella.

For more information, please contact the Aptella team on 1300 867 266 or visit www.aptella.com

About Aptella

At Aptella, we are innovative thinkers ready to collaborate with our customers and enable them with automation and positioning technology that provides real value. As a team of diverse specialists, we work together to provide advanced solutions that enable real efficiencies for business. We are solutions-led and customer-focused, understanding our customer's business first, ready to solve their needs with the right innovative positioning technology.

We advise our customers on the best solution for their project, enable them with the right technology products and systems, and support them as their long-term partner. Our team of more than 400 employees is tapped into the latest innovations from around the world, which we source, tailor and deploy to meet the local needs of our customers throughout Australia, New Zealand and Southeast Asia.

For more information contact:

Gina Velde

Group Executive Manager - Systems

Aptella

gvelde@aptella.com

+61 402 066 962

